

“Vocation Voices”

A Poor Handmaid for twenty-four years, Sr. Connie Bach has served on her community's vocation ministry team for three different terms and is now the Vocation Director as well as Co-Director of the community's Volunteer Program.

The best practice Sr. Connie would like to highlight is timely communication. One volunteer commented that she chose the PHJC Volunteer Program because Sr. Connie was the first to communicate and did so frequently.

Born in Hammond, IN, Sr. Connie has a multitude of favorite pastimes and hobbies, including kayaking, canoeing, swimming, hiking, horseback riding, composing, music, being with friends and family, playing with dogs, genealogy, keeping in touch with friends on Facebook, and sports. Sr. Connie has a dream of visiting all the national parks over her lifetime!

Sr. Connie receives the most joy from being active in CAVA and NRVC and walking with others who desire to grow in their relationship with Christ. She prays best by listening to or composing music, playing her guitar, and creating mandalas. She has been a part of recording two CD's, including some of her own songs. She especially enjoys planning and playing for liturgies and other celebrations. Her musical background includes ten years of experience as a music therapist working with persons with special needs.
