Sister Alicia Torres, FE

Franciscans of the Eucharist of Chicago

Sr. Alicia Torres, FE, is a member of the Franciscans of the Eucharist of Chicago, a community of women and men serving the poor in Chicago's West Humboldt Park area.

You may recognize her as a contestant on Food Network "Chopped", but a simple life of serving the community is her true recipe for happiness. Sr Alicia won her competition and donated the prize money to the Mission of Our Lady of the Angels.

Read her article, "Anchored with Jesus in the Midst of the Storm," from the August/September/October 2020 issue of Religious Life Magazine published by the Institute on Religious Life.
